Syllabus

Course Description:

“The City,” as both a social phenomenon and an ideal of human collaboration, evokes questions that have long engaged scholars, artists, and critics. Trinity College’s own urban setting has powerfully shaped its heritage and increasingly informs its mission. Recent events, from the COVID-10 pandemic to an accelerating cycle of urban protest movements, have only heightened our awareness of the paradoxes and inequities that persist in our cities. In this seminar, we will examine the idea and the reality of “the City” through readings from a variety of disciplines and viewpoints, exploring the promise and the perils of our urban centers.

COURSE READINGS:

Required course texts are available at the Trinity College Bookstore.

Jane Jacobs, The Death and Life of Great American Cities (1961) (Vintage Books ed., 1992) (“Jacobs”).

Alan Mallach, The Divided City: Poverty & Prosperity in Urban America (Island Press, 2018) (“Mallach”).

Eric Mumford, Designing the Modern City Urbanism Since 1850 (Yale Univ. Press, 2018) (“Mumford”).

Additional weekly readings will be posted on Moodle.

CLASS GROUND RULES:

Intellectual honesty is the obligation of all students to their classmates and the entire Trinity College community. The Student Handbook lays out the College's policy on cheating and plagiarism. You are responsible for knowing and following all College policies, including the nine rules of intellectual honesty found on pages 13-14 of the Handbook. Also

In addition, to encourage a classroom environment that supports respectful, critical inquiry through the free exchange of ideas, the following principles will guide our work:

- Treat every member of the class with respect, even if you disagree with their opinion;
- Reasonable minds can differ on any number of perspectives, opinions, and conclusions;
- Because constructive disagreement sharpens thinking, deepens understanding, and reveals novel insights, it is not just encouraged, it is expected;
- All viewpoints are welcome;
- No ideas are immune from scrutiny and debate; and
- You will not be graded on your opinions.

WRITING ASSIGNMENTS:

The requirements and due dates for writing assignments will be provided on Moodle. For writing assignments where citations are appropriate, please refer to the Chicago Manual of Style, which is also a useful reference for questions of grammar and usage.

For any assistance you may require with these assignments, you are encouraged to use the College's Writing Center, staffed by specially trained Writing Associates, to improve your writing, no matter your skill level. To make an appointment using the online scheduling system, use <https://trincoll.mywconline.com>.

We also have our own librarian assigned to this course, Rob Walsh. You'll meet Rob (virtually) during our first week of class and are urged to consult with him about your research (or other library-related) questions at any time during the semester. You can make an appointment with Rob at this link: <https://libcal.trincoll.edu/appointments/rob>.

GRADING:

Course grades will be based 30% on class participation; 40% on the short writing assignments; and 30% on the final paper.¹

¹ The grading scale is based on the 100 total points possible from the above percentages:

A+ = 97.5-100	A = 93.5-97.49	A- = 89.5-93.49
B+ = 87.5-89.49	B = 83.5-87.49	B- = 79.5-83.49
C+ = 77.5-79.49	C = 73.5-77.49	C- = 69.5-73.49
D+ = 67.5-69.49	D = 63.5-67.49	D- = 59.5-63.49
F = 0-59.49

Assignments turned in late will be subject to a 5-point deduction in grade for each day late, absent special permission from the Instructor obtained prior to the due date.
